In the Year 2003

John and Judy, who were both 18 years old, having just left 'Great Academy School' with three A levels, were considering their future.

In the Year 2006

After this discussion, John attended Fraud Lent University in Miami and Judy attended the Real Deal University of New York.

After successful completion of their Bachelor's degrees, both John and Judy returned to Barbados seeking employment. Six months after returning, John is still jobless but Judy has secured employment.

One day Judy received a call at her workplace from John. Here is the story.

Here is how you obtain information on accreditation and recognition of institutions and programmes of study

You should check with the Barbados Accreditation Council to see if your degree would be accepted in Barbados, as employers and institutions generally recognise qualifications from accredited institutions.

You can call the Council at 436-9094, or email at info@bac.gov.bb and one of the Accreditation Officers will gladly check the status of the university or programme of study for you.

In addition you can help yourself by checking websites such as:

- www.chea.org for studies in the USA
- www.dfes.gov.uk/recognisedukdegrees for studies in the UK
- www.cicic.ca for studies in Canada

But if in doubt, always check with the BARBADOS ACCREDITATION COUNCIL!
